WOMAN ENDS HER LIFE BY SHOOTING

Found Dead in Home at Kittery--Worried About Her Farm and Loss of Sleep From Noise of Autos

The residents of Kittery were shocked today in hearing of the sad ending of Miss Nellie Manson, daughter of the late Dennis and Mrs. Lucy Manson, who took her life by shooting herself in the head. The act was committed during the night and her body was found this morning by her sister and examination showed that she had been dead some time. She used a 22-cal. revolver.

Neither the sister nor any of the neighbors heard the fatal shot during the night.

Miss Manson was forty years of age and one of the town's most highly respected women. Though she appeared in good spirits when retiring on Monday evening it is known that she has worried much of late over the farm crop.

With her sister she conducted a small farm and it is reported that the failure to get help to remove her hay crop and look after her farm produce worked on her mind. She has also complained much of the loss of sleep caused by the noise of passing automobiles during the night on the state road close to her home. The high cost of living is said to have also given her much worry. She pleaded with parties to take away the hay and other stuff from the farm without cost, but could get no one to undertake it.

Miss Manson was formerly a stenographer and held a good position in Boston which she gave up at the death of her mother and came home and worked hard to retain the homestead. Besides her sister she is survived by two brothers, Dennis and Warren, both of Boston.

REPORT LINER IN BATTLE WITH A SUBMARINE

(By Associated Press)
An Atlantic Port, Aug. 21.—An American schooner from Nova Scotia which arrived here today reported sighting a large liner steering a zig-zag course and circling about 130 miles northeast of Nantucket Light ship on Thursday, Aug. 15, and firing her guns. Twenty-five or more shots were fired. The schooner reported that the liner was about eight miles distant and the weather so hazy that it was impossible to see the object at which the guns were being fired. The captain believed that the vessel was engaged in a battle with a submarine.

MANY CAPTURED BY ITALIANS IN NEW DRIVE

(By Associated Press)
Rome, Aug. 21.—More than 10,000 Austrians had been made prisoners up to last night by the Italians in their new offensive, the war office announced this afternoon.

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Aug. 21.—What is left of the Grand Army of the Republic, the blue which turned out at the call of remnants of the great army of boys in President Lincoln more than half a century ago to save the Union from destruction, were paid a hearty welcome and given a great demonstration. The cheering was somewhat diminished by the thoughts that this may be the last gathering in this city of the G. A. R. as a national body.

About 8000 veterans were in line as compared with the more than 40,000 parading at the last encampment here thirteen years ago, covered the line of march in automobiles while hundreds of others fully as old marched the entire route.

All of the streets through which the parade passed were decorated and dressed in the national colors, flags flying from every building in honor of the aged heroes. Accompanying the veterans were many gray haired men some in other uniforms than the G. A. R., noting as escorts. They were in khaki and were the veterans of the Spanish war and other campaigns of the American forces.

The members of the Russian mission headed by Ambassador Boris A. Gukhlyev were carried over the same route of parade as the veterans, starting in automobiles 15 minutes ahead of the G. A. R. They were accompanied by Mayor Curley who had two companies of the state guard as an escort. Following the parade the Russians reviewed the parade of the veterans with the mayor at city hall.

The members of the visiting mission were cheered along the route by the crowd who lined the sidewalks. They will be the guests of the city today and tomorrow.

British Make Successful Air Raid Over German Depots in Belgium---German Counter Attacks all Fail.

(By Associated Press)
London, August 21.—British casualties for the week ending today were officially announced today by the war office and place the number of officers and men of the British armies operating in foreign countries killed, wounded and missing at 14,243. The number killed or died of wounds is 2337.

The details follow:

Killed and died of wounds: Officers, 325; men, 2518. Total 2843.

Wounded and missing: Officers, 316; men, 10,524. Total 11,370.

The Germans have continued their unsuccessful attempts to retake positions lost in the recent drive of the French and British forces in Flanders and on the Aisne front. All of the German counter attacks have been repulsed with severe losses to the enemy.

Another successful air raid was made on Sunday in Belgium. The official report of the British admiralty records that tons of bombs, many of them incendiary were dropped on German military stations and depots with great success. All of the British machines returned to their base undamaged.

AUSTRIANS RETIRE BEFORE THE ITALIANS

(By Associated Press)

The Austrian forces on the Isonzo are slowly retiring before the hammering blows struck by the Italians in their battlefront of thirty-seven miles. Rome reports that despite the strong and determined resistance offered by the enemy the Italian forces are continuing to move forward taking important points and reports from authoritative sources agree that unless a determined rally is made and strong reinforcements brought up the Italians will successfully break the strong Austrian lines and gain Trieste, the vantage point and objective of the entire campaign.

The Canadians have made another attempt to drive through into Lens, attacking in strong numbers early this morning. A German attack launched at the same time met the Canadians as they advanced toward the city and were forced to retreat but only after one of the most bloody hand to hand encounters had taken place. ATTEMPT TO DRIVE FRENCH FROM POSITIONS

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Aug. 21.—German counter attacks of extreme violence were made yesterday and last night in an attempt to drive the French from their newly won positions on the Verdun front, the war office announces this afternoon. All the attacks met with failure at the hands of the French artillery. The war office added in the report that more than 6000 Germans were made prisoners by the French after the attack had been driven off. The German attack on the Ayacourt wood was especially severe. Attacks were also unsuccessfully launched by the Germans against the French new positions on the Aisne front.

RUSSIANS FACE ENEMY STRONGLY IN ROUMANIA

(By Associated Press)
Petrograd, August 21.—The Germans are attacking heavily in Roumania the war office announces and the Russian-Roumanian forces are offering stiff resistance. While the fighting is heavy the large numbers of the enemy have forced the Roumanians to retreat slightly on the edge of the Carpathians.

The Russians made an advance which netted several important villages and gained some prisoners the report added.

COUNTER BY GERMANS FAIL TO MAKE GAIN

(By Associated Press)
London, August 21.—The Germans this morning made a third attempt to recover positions lost to the British in their recent drive. The attacks were especially severe at Epiphy. The war office announces the complete repulse of all the attacks.

GEN. EDWARDS URGES NATIONAL VIEWPOINT

"Town Meeting Business" Must Stop, He Says.

Boston, Aug. 20.—The work of organizing the 26th Division of the National Army, comprising the New England troops, so that it will be ready for service at an instant's notice, as soon as it is not sooner than the famous "Rainbow" Division, occupied Maj. Gen. Clarence B. Edwards, commander of this division, and his entire staff yesterday.

The General and his staff put in a long, busy day at the headquarters in the Nottingham Chambers, holding many private conferences, receiving important personages upon business connected with this complicated work of organization.

The strained situation resulting from the announcement of the changes and combinations which are about to be made in certain regiments appears to have practically passed, the majority of those who protested, on sentimental grounds or for other reasons, against the loss of identity on the part of old-established regiments withdrawing all objection upon being convinced that the coming changes are necessary to the work of organizing the division and are being made in order to insure the utmost efficiency of the 26th Division as a whole.

Gen. Edwards made an eloquent appeal yesterday for a National viewpoint upon this matter, declaring that "town meeting business" must stop and that any man who appealed to politics to change the ruling of the War Department was not one to command troops.

"We must play a National game," he said. "This change in organization is the result of a careful investigation by commissioned officers sent abroad. The Allies have been fighting bitterly for three years and find that this is the best organization. We have gone into the fight with them and we must lay aside every other issue."

"The National Guard, the Regulars, the drafted men—they are all the National Army and we must play a National game. The depot companies, the division companies, the machine gun companies are all equally essential. I expect the help of every true-blooded New Englander."

Every French regiment, the General explained, has its own reserve behind the lines and never goes into a fight without its being there.

"Eventually," declared Gen. Edwards last evening, "all line officers will see field service and the Lord knows how soon!"

Inexpensive Floors

as Hardwood

When a floor is bare and polished, it is often referred to as a "hardwood" floor, which is not the case. The reference has come to apply more to the style than to the wood itself. There are today hardwoods on the market which cost far less than hardwood, are just as beautiful, and wear practically as well. We can show you these stained in beautiful colors.

Lees Laidlaw, vice chairman of the New York State Women's Suffrage Party today began sending copies of the canning and drying manuals of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission of Washington to every Assembly District leader in the State as part of the organization co-operation in helping to conserve food of the country. These manuals are being sent out by the thousands to women throughout the country. Any woman can have them by sending to the Commission at 210 Maryland building, Washington, a two cent stamp to pay postage. In a letter to Secretary Ridsdale, Mrs. Laidlaw writes: "Thank you for your generous co-operation. I will see that our various Assembly District leaders receive copies in addition to those you have sent our Campaign District Chairmen."

GERMAN SEA CAPTAIN READY TO SERVE U. S.

Boston, Aug. 21.—"It is needless to say that I am a German by birth, but I shall do my duty to this country and fight German autocracy and liberate human beings from blue-blooded rulers on thrones by birthright," wrote Capt. Hugo C. Frierichs in a letter to the United States Shipping Board, offering his services as a mariner in any capacity that the government can use him.

Capt. Frierichs holds an unlimited master's certificate, and has been an officer on big steamships running between Boston and New York and European ports.

"I grew up on the big Atlantic liners which are now interned in New York and Boston, and know every river, wrinkle, and behavior of the vessels," he writes. "If you need my services as a master, I am willing to do my duty to my country—U. S. A.—but if you can't trust me to perform the duties as master, for reasons which I well understand—my German birth—I may be useful to show American masters how to handle those ships to the best advantage, as I grew up with them."

Capt. Frierichs offers references from the United States steamship inspectors at San Pedro, Cal., where he now runs a navigation school. In the letter received yesterday, he signs himself "Capt. Hugo Frierichs, Patriotic German."

"There is said to be little doubt that the offer will be accepted by the government."

SAYS TREATMENT OF SUFFRAGISTS HITS DEMOCRACY

Washington, August 21.—Representative John D. Baer of North Dakota went to Ocasquan this afternoon and after overcoming with difficulty the objections of Superintendent Whittaker was permitted to see the six suffragists who are undergoing a sentence of 30 days for picketing the White House.

Miss Lucy Ewing's counsel, Ghasp Gardner, was again refused permission to see her and believing that she would be unable to communicate with him, Miss Ewing signed the formal request prepared by the six picketers that they might be permitted to confer with Miss Lucy Ewing of the Women's Party, acting as counsel for them all.

This request, which was refused by the superintendent yesterday, was granted tonight after Representative Baer's visit to the White House.

Senator Lewis of Illinois today called on the attorney general in behalf of Miss Ewing and Mrs. William Upson Watson of Chicago. The general question of a pardon was discussed, but the senator was met with the statement that if the department of justice should recommend pardoning the two Chicago women, it would have to recommend a pardon for the other four picketers also. Senator Lewis will pursue the matter further.

EXETER

Exeter, August 21.—The awning on the store formerly owned and occupied by the late Miss W. L. Farrington on the corner of Front and Court streets mysteriously caught fire shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, and but for a timely discovery would have resulted in serious damage. It was rolled up and when seen the cloth was in flames. Passers soon tore it from the building and succeeded in extinguishing the fire. The building was scorched and fire which was under the boards was extinguished by a hand chemical. No alarm was given. The store is now unoccupied and also a tement on the second floor, but adjoining the store is the dwelling house of H. B. Walker, principal of the Exeter High school.

Joseph Commins, sergeant and John A. Churchill, corporal in Company 3, Coast Artillery corps, who were rejected at the physical examination, have both taken a second examination and are successfully reinstated in the corps. John McDevall is the latest Exeter man to enlist in the company.

Undertaker O. A. Fleming was called to Kingston Saturday by the death of Mrs. Mary P. Frost of that town, mother of Elmer Frost of Exeter. The body will be taken to Byfield, Mass., tomorrow for burial following funeral services at the home in Kingston.

NO SIGN U. S. WILL ACCEPT

Pope's Peace Proposal Leaves Aims Unaltered; Final Exchanges of Opinion With Allies to Begin Soon.

Washington, August 21.—Lord Cecil's statement in the British parliament today that the entente governments would hold a conference before replying to Pope Benedict's peace proposals is understood at the state department as meaning that the governments will exchange views, not that there is to be a gathering of premiers or of foreign ministers for a formal conference. The American government could not participate in such a gathering for lack of time to send its representatives, if for no other reason.

So far there has been no occasion for the state department to join in any of the several conferences which have been held in the capitals of the entente nations during the war, although American army and naval officers have taken part in some of the deliberations of the technical men to insure co-operation in campaign plans. This attitude of the U. S. government is understood to have been due to a lack of sympathy or determination to co-operate fully but rather to the conviction that so far those conferences have had to do with strictly European issues such as the settlement of the Balkan questions, for instance.

No such limitation applies to the Pope's peace proposals of course, as these touch interests vital to the U. S. It is believed, however, that the necessary measure of co-operation between the nations at war with Germany can be obtained through cable exchanges and conferences between the diplomatic representatives and the foreign secretaries at the different capitals.

It was said today that these exchanges would begin very soon. At present administration officials object strongly to attempts by the press to forecast the nature of the reply that will be made by President Wilson. But it is not denied that nothing has been presented by the Pope to warrant the expectation that there will be any change in the attitude taken by the president in his previous utterances on the subject of peace and the conditions that must be met to secure it.

'GET WHAT WE CAN, NO LIMIT' SAYS COAL BARON

St. Louis, Mo., August 21.—William S. Scott, president of the Missouri and Illinois Company, which leases coal mines near Belleville, Ill., yesterday testified at a hearing of the Missouri inquiry into the high prices of fuel, that it was the policy of the coal men to make all they can, both in war and in peace. Asked as to his idea of a fair profit during war, he said:

"There is no limit. We get what we can. Everybody is doing that, including the farmers."

He said the highest price he had obtained recently for coal was $6 a ton for six-inch Cartersville lump.

"How do you justify charging $6 for something that costs less than $2 to produce?" asked Assistant Attorney General Gose.

"Because you can get it. You are a lawyer, and you wouldn't do a piece of work for $5 if you could get $10 for it," was the reply.

SOLDIERS' MAIL BADLY ADDRESSED

Washington, Aug. 21.—Mail for American soldiers in France will not be forwarded unless the addresses show the company and regiment or the name of the separate unit to which the soldier belongs.

Postmaster Gen. Burleson directed postmasters today to return to senders all mail not addressed in that manner. The American postal agency in France has been swamped with mail bearing such addresses as "Somewhere in France," "Care the American expeditionary forces," etc. It has been found impossible by the postal authorities, with the facilities they have, to undertake the location of men to whom letters are addressed without specific company and regiment designation, as commands are scattered and opposed.

100,000 TONS OF SUGAR FOR FIGHTERS

Washington, Aug. 21.—Contracts for 100,000 tons of sugar have just been placed by the government for army and navy requirements at a price to be fixed by the food administration. At the present market price the order will total between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000.

Representatives of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange conferred with Herbert Hoover, the food administrator, yesterday on the stabilization of sugar prices in the United States. Sugar futures dealings were stopped by the exchange last week at Mr. Hoover's request, after prices had mounted to unusually high levels.

Beet sugar producers also saw Mr. Hoover and discussed the prices at which the million tons of beet sugar to be produced between now and the end of the year shall be marketed. The prices contemplated range from $6.75 to $7.50 a hundred, or from 1 to 1.42 cents under present quotations. No settlement, however, was reached.

Sugar probably will be the next food to be put under government regulation under the food bill. Although the food administration is given no such sweeping powers for sugar control as in the case of wheat, it hopes to accomplish a proper distribution and a price reduction through a voluntary arrangement with producers and dealers.

DANIELS DENIES U-BOATS IN U. S. WATERS

Washington, August 20.—Secretary Daniels denied today the statement printed in a New York newspaper that the navy department had received a report of a movement of German submarines or their presence in American waters. Naval experts here do not believe Germany will so weaken her undersea forces, when she may employ them to greater advantage in European waters. The only consideration which would move Germany to send U-boats to the U. S., it was asserted, would be to appeal to the spectacular and sensational which would hardly be sufficient to dictate such a radical change in her naval policy.

It was said today that these exchanges would begin very soon. At present administration officials object strongly to attempts by the press to forecast the nature of the reply that will be made by President Wilson.

But it is not denied that nothing has been presented by the Pope to warrant the expectation that there will be any change in the attitude taken by the president in his previous utterances on the subject of peace and the conditions that must be met to secure it.

GERMAN MERCHANT SHOT

South Sea Marie, Michigan, August 20.—Alfred Henningshaus, a German merchant was wounded by machine gun bullets early today, when his launch was fired on by Michigan infantrymen in a patrol boat after a command to stop had not been obeyed. Two other persons in the launch escaped injury.

Henningshaus and his companions reached the Canadian side, where they were arrested and are being held pending investigation.

It is alleged that the trio attempted to evade inspection by American officials on a trip from the American to the Canadian side of St. Mary's river.

BOSTON WELCOMES THE VETERANS OF THE CIVIL WAR

Lt. Gov. Coolidge, Mayor Curley and General Miles Address G. A. R. at Formal Exercises--Parade Today

(By Associated Press)

Boston, Aug. 20.—Ten thousand veterans of the Civil War, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, were formally welcomed to Boston tonight on their 51st annual encampment by Lieutenant Governor Coolidge in the absence of Governor McCall. The Lieutenant Governor spoke for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts which joins in the exercises with Boston. The formal official welcome to the city was delivered by Mayor James M. Curley. Other speakers were former Governor John L. Bates and W. J. Patterson, Department Commander for Massachusetts. It was the second formal gathering of the veterans for the day.

In the morning the grand old committee met at the headquarters, the Hotel Vendome, where badges were distributed to the delegates and the visitors from the several districts gathered in preliminary caucuses.

Conspicuous among the veterans was one in gray, Major Frank M. Burroughs of Washington, now in the government service, but in the day of '61 a fighter. In the Confederate cavalry, the Culpeppers, a part of the Pickett brigade which made its gallant charge at Gettysburg, Major Burroughs is 78 years old and is the only Confederate soldier believed to be in attendance. He expressed the belief that the Confederate veterans should visit Boston in their next convention. "No American citizen can stand in any place at this time," said Mayor Curley, "except behind the nation's leader, President Wilson. The only place to be now is in the front line behind the President, just as you men stood more than fifty years ago when the call came."

Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., (retired), arose unexpectedly from the floor and addressed his comrades. He said in part: "America is blazing the way to democracy for the world today following the lead you made half a century ago in the world's greatest war for freedom."

Fair weather has so far attended the veterans and the whole city is up in arms to welcome the boys in blue. All public buildings and the greater part of private residences are profusely decorated in honor of the G. A. R., and the route of tomorrow's parade has been dress as in former lines of march in the history of the city.

The veterans were their point in conducting for a parade of their own and the Russian mission will parade fifteen minutes before the veterans. The members of the mission will review the veterans as they pass the State House.

mendous power is not known. Robert S. Lovett, president of the war industry board, and chairman of the Union Pacific railroad, is favored by the coal operators. Commissioner William Colver of the federal trade commission is wanted by the coal miners.

Under the food law, the coal controller will fix prices from the mine to the consumer's bin and will regulate all intermediary steps of distribution.

Relief of the Northwest and New England, threatened with coal famine, will be among the first steps undertaken.

A sharp reduction in prices to the American home is expected. The navy department today is paying $2.33 at the mine for bituminous coal. The rate of $3.00 fixed by the coal operators voluntarily at the conference with Secretary of the Interior Lane last June is now admitted by operators to be high.

Figures gathered by the federal trade commission in its investigation of coal costs show that it was mined in many districts as low as 90 cents a ton. Differing costs with varying size of veins and mining conditions will be taken into consideration in the fixing of prices to the consumer. The President worked on the coal problem all day Sunday.

I. W. W. STRIKE FAILS TO COME AS THREATENED

(By Associated Press)

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—The general strike of construction workers and harvesters in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana threatened and called by the Industrial Workers of the World, for today was not answered. It is believed that the swift federal action in the arrest of James Rowan, district I. W. W. Secretary at Spokane, Wash., yesterday, together with twenty-six other alleged members of the organization had its influence on the more radical members of the body. The threat of the government to punish as traitors any persons agitating disorders which threaten the safety of the country at this time is believed to have caused the intended strikers to agree to continue their labor.

PLENTY SUGAR FOR ARMY AND NAVY ASSURED

(By Associated Press)

New York, Aug. 20.—The certainty of sufficient sugar to supply the needs of the army and navy for 1917 and 1918, amounting to 100,000 tons per annum, was assured today at a conference held here by representatives of the sugar refineries, dealers and growers following conferences held last week at Washington between sugar growers of Cuba with the advisory committee of the Council of National Defense.

HOSPITAL DAY.

It was in a somewhat faint-hearted and pessimistic mood that on August 11th, the ladies started on the ninth annual "Tag Day" for the Portsmouth Hospital, having been greeted on all sides by remarks of this sort: "Oh, you can't expect to get much this year."

There have been so many calls that people's purses are drained dry, etc. The result was therefore all the more surprising and gratifying. The day was perfect as to weather—most every one was out—and before noon old and young, the stranger, the sailor and soldier boys, all seemed adorned with the little yellow tags which were rather ornamental against the bright sweaters.

The money counted in evening was $160.97 which has since been increased so that total is now $182.74. There were in the collection about $75.00 in checks and bills, (the largest being $50.00). The rest was in coin and there were over 1300 quarters, 100 halves, 3900 dimes, 4100 nickels and 2300 cents in the boxes. To see this pile of small coins all together made some one say "Where did they all come from?"

This is largest public collection for hospital since our second tag day in 1910.

We hope that every one who contributed even a nickel to this sum will accept the thanks of the Hospital Managers, and also the young helpers on the streets, whose interested labors we greatly appreciate.

The number of patients at the Hospital this year has been large, but the increase in prices of food, fuel, medicine and medical and surgical supplies is very great, so that the expenses keep constantly in excess of the receipts—going over $1700.00 in July. It is very difficult for many people to understand why an institution which has a good sized fund can ever need money. "Why, I thought the hospital had lots of money," is what we repeatedly hear. They seem not to realize that it is the interest only of a fund which can be used for current expenses; so until our fund is much larger we must still ask the help of friends, and this annual donation from the people of Portsmouth and vicinity will be necessary and most welcome.

Our hearty thanks again to each and to all.

For the Directors of Portsmouth Hospital.

MARY E. MYERS, Treasurer.

"SOMEWHERE" MAIL CAN'T BE MAILED

Washington, Aug. 20.—Mail for American soldiers in France will not be forwarded unless the addresses show the company and regiment or the name of the separate unit to which the soldier belongs.

Postmaster General Burleson directed postmasters today to return to senders all mail not addressed in that manner. The American postal agency in France has been swamped with mail bearing such addresses as "Somewhere in France," "Care of the American expeditionary forces," etc. It has been found impossible by the postal authorities with the facilities they have to write letters are addressed without specific company, and regiment designation, as commands are scattered and opportunities to exchange mail between the different units are limited.

Postal authorities in France, England and Canada have taken similar action.

THE FORGOTTEN VALLAN

By J. Frank Davis of the Vigilante

Who was Clement L. Vallandigham? You cannot answer this question—at least, not more than one out of a thousand readers can.

Yet Clement L. Vallandigham was quite a well-known figure in America in his day. He is almost completely forgotten now, which is as it should be. The good excuse for resurrecting him in these words is to emphasize the happy fact that we do not need to worry too much about the dubious loyalty of a few of our national representatives in Congress.

Vallandigham was a member of Congress, from Ohio. There are members of Congress today, not from Ohio whose words and conduct entitle them to be called the Vallandighams of this war.

Patriotic men are exasperated with them, fearful of what effect their more or less disguised disloyalty may have on our participation in the civilized world's battle for democracy. In what happened to Vallandigham, and what has since happened to the memory of Vallandigham, is some sly answer to this exasperation; some answer to these fears.

Vallandigham was a sympathizer with the Southern Confederacy. He did what he could to help the Southern cause. If he had done it in the name of the north, his aid would have been honest loyalty to a belief. But he did it in the name of the south, which was disloyalty.

He was a skilled politician, as are some of the German sympathizers of our modern day. He had a sympathetic constituency, again like some politicians who are obstructing the war to the best of their ability in 1917.

In May, 1863, when the North was passing through dark days and every Democrat was straining his hardest to express his patriotism, Vallandigham denounced President Lincoln in a speech, declaring that his hearers should "come up together at the ballot box and hurl the tyrant from the throne."

He was arrested, tried by a military commission and sentenced to be confined in a fortress for the duration of the war. President Lincoln commuted this sentence and ordered that he be turned over to his own friends in the Confederate States. He was at once taken to Staunton, Tenn., where he was sent through the lines under a flag of truce and presented to the Confederates with the compliments of the people to whose cause he had been disloyal.

But this didn't satisfy him any more than it would satisfy certain of our own statesmen if they could be deported into Germany. He denounced the Confederates that they make him a prisoner of war; they declined to do any such thing, or in any other way to help him become a martyr. Soldiers do not respect dis-

LEMONS BRING OUT THE HIDDEN BEAUTY

Make this lotion for very little cost and just see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any drugstore will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

loyalty. He made his way to Bermuda and sailed to Canada. President Lincoln, when it was reported Vallandigham was about to cross the border into this country, refused to let him cross, saying the people could be depended upon. He was right; they could.

Vallandigham ran for Governor of Ohio, seeking vindication. He thought—as perhaps some of our modern Vallandighams think would be the case if they had to submit their cases to the judgment of their constituents—that his public would back him. He was defeated by over 100,000 majority—such a majority as Ohio had never witnessed before.

The wages of his disloyalty were banishment, disavowal, and the fate of being speedily forgotten except by those who remembered him only to scorn him as one who was against his own country in its day of need.

It reminds us, when our few witful senators and congressmen do their bit for the knicker by obstructing imperative war legislation, that our generation is not unique in such respect; in 1863 the government also had dangerous friends of the enemy in powerful places. And it assures us, that, in the fulness of time, they will probably meet their just deserts. It may not be practical with Lincolnian humor to push them over into Germany and tell the enemy when they are serving that he is welcome to them, but at least we may be assured, when the names of good Americans are being repeated in a later and happier day, that theirs will be quite forgotten.

CASUALTY COLUMN TO BEGIN ON AUG. 27

Washington, Aug. 21.—That American troops will soon be in the fray abroad was indicated yesterday when it was learned the War Department will start a casualty column in the Official Bulletin Aug. 27.

This is not to be taken as an exact date for the American participation, however.

The bulletin section reserved for such lists will be marked "No Casualties" on days when there are none. Then if there are only a few casualties, the column will print the soldier's name, organization and next of kin. If, however, the lists run heavily only the soldier's name and organization will be noted.

A special bureau, under Adj. Gen. McCain, will check up on casualties and maintain an information service for inquiring kin. An extra crew of telegraph operators will be placed on duty.

LOVETT PLANS SPEEDING UP COAL SHIPMENT

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Aug. 20.—The appointment of Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific railroad as administrator of the preferred transportation committee under recent act of Congress was announced today. Mr. Lovett started work at once and reported that the railroads in the east and the steamships of the Lake region would be called upon at once to give preference to transportation of coal which is badly needed in all parts of the country.

DONT'S FOR WALKERS

walking expert gives this advice:
"Walk upright, shoulders back, chest expanded; allow arms to swing freely, stop out with a snap, walk with the hips, not with the knees; a few long easy strides will carry one farther, with less effort, than many short, slouchy steps. Wear shoes with light weight tops, but heavy soles and low heels. Heavy stockings or socks, pant wool and part cotton, are generally found to be best, while a gray flannel shirt is found desirable."
"Don't dress too warmly."
"Don't walk too fast or too far at first."
"Don't lean forward; walk upright."
"Don't wear new shoes on long walks."
"Don't drink too much in warm weather."
"Don't stop walking suddenly when overhated."
"Don't wear short shoes or too high heels."
"Don't wear pointed-toed shoes."
"Give your feet a chance to breathe."
"All out of doors."

The work of the local army draft board is drawing to a close and it is expected that the district exemption board will be reporting on some of the doubtful cases within a short time.

TRAP AND FIELD

BATTLE OF CHICAGO IS ON THE TAPIS FOR THIS WEEK.

Trapshooters by the Hundreds From Every Part of the United States Invade Chicago to Participate in Bloodless Fights for Championships.

1916	St. Louis	242,400
1917	St. Louis	227,250

Chicago—the second city in the United States—will this week be the scene of the greatest battle of modern times.

"Think the struggles over the Atlantic this will be a bloodless conflict. What a blessing it would be if all battles were bloodless. What a glorious world it would be to live in."

The greatest destruction in the Chicago battle will be the smashing of many thousands of clay targets—of clay pigeons as they are more commonly called. In the past twelve years 2,121,120 of these clay targets have been smashed in the Grand American Trap-shooting Handicap tournaments, and this one in Chicago will be bigger than any of the others and therefore the destruction of the clays will be greater.

This Chicago battle, which will take place on the shore of Lake Michigan, at the South Shore Country Club, will cause many Americans to come to arms. It will be the 13th running of the Grand American Trapshooting Handicap tournament and some $50,000 in prizes will be offered. Men and women, boys and girls will answer the roll call. Fourteen traps have been placed along Lake Michigan for the shooters and they will fire at the targets with the blue waters of the Lake as the background.

Finest Place in World

A finer place for the trapshooters in Sports Country Club is one of the show places of America. It is the most beautiful town and country club in the world. It is an organization at Chicago's most representative citizens and represents an investment of nearly $2,000,000. It is located adjoining Jackson Park, where the World's Fair was held in 1893. The 10-mile drive following the South Park Boulevard through Washington and Jackson Parks and finishing on the superb drive of the South Shore Club is said to be the finest in the world.

This is the fifth time that Chicago has staged the Grand American Handicap tournament. While the Grand American Handicap tournament does not get under way until September 1st, the preliminary events will be held in the city.

Editorial—28 | Business—37

Portsmouth, N. H., Tuesday, August 21, 1917.

There Should Be Great Exhibits.

In one New England town there is soon to be held an exhibit of garden produce and flowers grown by children. The county Farm Bureau and the Board of Trade of the town have interested themselves in the enterprise and will see that the affair is conducted in a manner to command the attention of young and old. Suitable prizes will be awarded and the children who have been giving their attention to the gardens will be made to realize that their efforts have been of some consequence.

This is a happy thought on the part of the people of the town. The exhibit will afford an excellent entertainment for an afternoon and evening. It will be very pleasing to the children as well as to their elders, and will teach the lesson that boys and girls of a very early age can accomplish something worth while when they earnestly place themselves in contact with the soil.

And a further thought is suggested by this enterprise. This is that the agricultural fairs throughout the country should be of unusual interest this fall because of the war gardening movement which has enlisted the activities of old and young to an extent never before dreamed of and resulted in a production of vegetables and fruits beyond the expectations of the most optimistic. Throughout New England and other parts of the country there are gardens, large and small, from which will be harvested, in the aggregate, a vast amount of valuable food stuffs. In the absence of the gardening movement these gardens would have lain as waste land or lawns as they have in the past.

In view of what has been done in the line of war gardening and more extensive and intensive farming generally in response to the demand for an extra amount of food stuffs for foreign nations as well as for the people of this country, there should be material for better exhibits this fall than ever before in the history of the country, and the managers of agricultural fairs everywhere should do all in their power to encourage the exhibit of these products. Not only is there an opportunity to show what can be accomplished with a small piece of land well tilled, but there is a chance to show what can be done by amateurs. Large numbers of this year's gardeners never had any previous experience, and what they have been able to achieve is a surprise to themselves and their neighbors.

The results of their labors should be freely exhibited at the coming agricultural fairs, and if they are there will be exhibits such as were never seen before. Not only will these exhibits be of prime interest to all classes, but they will emphasize the possibilities that were undreamed of prior to the war gardening movement and result in large future benefits. Having learned how the soil will respond to proper treatment, there are many who will continue their efforts long after the present emergency has passed, with pleasure and profit to themselves and benefit to the country.

A suffragist banner bearing an inscription addressed to "Kaiser Wilson" was more than some people in Washington were able to stand, and it came down in a hurry the other day. The picketers have been going too far for some time, and they are now demonstrating that they are incapable of appreciating magnanimity. In the light of their recent performances the pardoning of those who were lately lodged in jail was a mistake.

Portsmouth and the neighboring towns are distinctively feeling the effects of the new ship-building plant on business. Men in large numbers are coming from all quarters to find work here at good wages, and this means a large addition to trade and business in general. As this paper has before remarked, there are prosperous times ahead for this corner of New Hampshire.

The generous citizens of Portsmouth did well in providing means to enable all the Grand Army men of the city to attend the national encampment in Boston this week. These gatherings will in a few years be a thing of the past and no veteran should be kept at home by inability to pay his way. The country owes more to the old "bluecoats" than it will ever be able to pay.

In some places manuscripts are being re-examined and it is being found that some who were at first rejected are able to serve. It looks as if General Crowder's order to tighten up the reins a little was to bear fruit.

The season of fall politics is drawing near, and without doubt the great game will receive the usual attention in spite of the war. Nothing can overshadow the importance of politics to those who are "in it."

Summer was long in coming and is almost gone. The nights and mornings already have a September flavor.

Reason Only After Tragedy

(From the Continent)

As the terrific race riots in East St. Louis converted Senator Sherman of Illinois to be "a bone-dry prohibitionist"—his own confession in the Senate a few days later—so also they have happily converted a good many southern people to be better friends of the colored race than they have been before. Sympathy and pity have dislodged prejudice. Many southern newspapers express afresh the sharpened feeling that the South is under a special moral obligation to take care of the welfare of the negroes and give them an opportunity to develop in security where they are best understood. The Galveston News says pungently: "The South has only to reform its own habits of conduct toward the negro to keep him contented in the South, and by doing that preclude an exhibition of the savagery which the country has been called on to witness in East St. Louis." Doubtless the more recent and far less shameful outbreaks in Chester, Pennsylvania, will accentuate the same sentiment. It is thus that humanity always learns from the horrors produced by its own blunders, and so some good is always coming out of even the worst of evil. But what a pity that men do not "of their selves" judge what is right, and with quick reflection and discrimination decide for justice, fair dealing and kindness before some terrible drama of blood frightens them into reason and uprightness.

Have Taken to Trousers, Already.

(From the New York World)

If men give up trousers for kilts, as is foreshadowed in England, women will have to devise a new costume to meet the competition with their own short skirts.

"God Said, I Am Tired of Kings."

(From the Baltimore Star)

"Spain Facing Anarchy," says news paper headline. It seems that 1917 is a very bad year for kings.

Dolce Far Niente

(Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph)

The world's champion sinecure continues to be the Janitorship of the peace temples at The Hague.

Traitors All.

(From the New York World)

Treason masquerades through the country in a dozen different forms. Some of it is disguised as Sinn Féin propaganda, some as Socialism, some as I. W. W., some as pacifism; but all of it is essentially German. All of its champions are doing the Kaiser's work. Their treasonable demonstrations are conducted in public meetings, in newspapers, in circulars and in a general campaign against the war policies of the United States, without interference in most cases from the police or the Federal authorities.

How long the American people, with their easy-going tolerance, will allow these treasonable activities to continue is conjectural. Some day there will be a great disaster, due wholly or in part to traitors, and then we shall suddenly see a different attitude on the part of the public.

Of all these scoundrels perhaps the most infamous are those of foreign birth who come to the United States to escape political and religious oppression. Their treachery to the Republic is unspeakable and their crime defies definition.

Milk $1 a Quart—Why Not?

(From the Brooklyn Eagle)

Certified milk producers have got together and formulated a demand that their stuff be sold at twenty-five cents a quart. As poor people can't afford it now why not charge a dollar a quart? Doing things by halves, is the weakness of modern commerce.

Waste in Unskilled Cooking

(From the Minneapolis Journal)

No part of domestic economy is more painfully lacking in America than the art of skilful cooking—not the art of cooking to tempt a jaded appetite, but to efficiently feed the human digestive apparatus.

Nearly everything used for human food under ordinary conditions of plenty is good before it reaches the hands of the cook. Its value after that depends on the character and education of the cook. No doubt a considerable proportion of this raw food stuff is turned into poison, and more of it thrown into the discard because of its unattractive qualities. This waste is due almost wholly to lack of training in the art of preparing food.

The idea is more or less prevalent that anyone willing to undertake the task is competent to prepare food for the average table. The only reason why the idea has persisted so long is that we are able because of open-air exercise to throw off some of the poisonous effects of poorly cooked food.

Training the cook is receiving large and well-directed attention in the schools of many of the cities and towns of the Northwest; but at the best the application of the art acquired will be slow, for old kitchen habits die hard.

Heart of the Young Soldier.

(From the Omaha Bee)

Men of medical science are finding much of deep interest in the experience of the present war. Sir George Lyster has accomplished real triumphs and has led ahead to others. One of the most notable advances has been in the combat of infection. Out of the newer methods of destruction came infection of a sort science knew not how to deal with when the war was young; ordinary antiseptics were of little or no use and discovery was demanded. This has been met, until now absolute cleanliness and consequent recovery is available. But some of the lessons of other wars are yet remembered and applied. One of these is the fact that transition of young men from sedentary to active life, such as going from the counting-room to the training field, has a bad effect on the heart and not infrequently incapacitates the young soldier. This was studied at the time of the Civil War and is now getting deserved attention from the army doctors. In the British army it has been met not only with heart stimulants, but more effectively by graduated exercise, so that the recruit is worked up to his capacity through degrees that develop him without any undue strain. The great task of shaping up our new army involves no end of detail, not the least of which is this factor of physical endurance. American surgeons are hopeful, however, of being able to eliminate "soldier's heart" from the list of diseases to be feared.

The Note the Kaiser Wrote

(From the Syracuse Post-Standard)

In the case of the Zimmermann note proposing a Mexican attack upon the United States, financed and directed by Mexico, the comment of the German Government ran thus:

1. Germany never made any proposition to Mexico.

2. The Zimmermann note is a palpable forgery.

3. While Germany sent the note, which the United States Government outrageously intercepted, a wrong construction has been placed upon it. It read rightly it contains nothing unfriendly.

4. The note means what it says and Germany is fully justified in sending it. The letter of the Kaiser is having the same interesting passage through the Prussian brain.

The War and Money Values

(From the Baltimore Star)

It is an almost universally accepted dogmatism that "no human mind can think up to a billion." Only by illustrated comparisons can the hugeness of the billion score be conveyed to the average mortal grasp. Here is a statement that can easily be verified by simple multiplication. If a billion of silver dollars were in a heap and a counter were set the task of counting them, one by one, if he counted continuously for twenty-four hours a day and 365 days to the year, counting at the rate of a dollar every second, or sixty dollars to the minute, and never stopping for a minute, it would require over thirty years to complete the billion count, and it would require over 450 years to count the fifteen billions of dollars which it is in prospect that the United States will invest in the war business before the end of next year. If the counter were limited to eight hours per day it would require 1350 years to complete this $15,000,000,000 count. Figure it out for yourself and you will find the computation is well within the limit.

But money is being hoarded in this war much as loads of sand are hoarded in the building of a skyscraper. All things are relative, and values as expressed in money especially are, relative. Four hundred years ago a British shilling had nearly the purchasing power that a British pound has at present. It really doesn't matter much whether business is transacted upon a high or a low monetary level so long as the relative balances and proportions are maintained. Much of the money which the United States is proposing to put into the war business is in the way of investment. The foreign loans will in time be paid off. The money put into ships will not be squandered; there will be a tremendous need for ships when peace comes. It is highly probable that even the airplanes may be put to peace uses, flying five years from now will be about as ordinary as automobiles is at present.

Missouri Bigger Than Reed.

It must be a comfort to a good many Missourians, foreign and native, to see the spectacle of Senator Reed, to remember that Missouri was also the birthplace of General Pershing.

SMUGGLE WHISKEY IN MOTOR TIRES.

Hagerstown Md., Aug. 20.—The police commissioners have received reports of violations of the law prohibiting the shipping of liquor in quantities into dry West Virginia by concealing it in automobile tires. The liquor, purchased in Hagerstown, is taken near the West Virginia line, pumped into the tires and transported to Martinsburg.

HOME-READING COURSE FOR CITIZEN-SOLDIERS

LESSON NO. 7.

Your Health.

(Preceding Lessons: 1. Your Post of Honor. 2. Making Good as a Soldier. 3. Nine Qualities of a Soldier. 4. Getting Ready for Camp. 5. First Days in Camp. 6. Cleanliness in Camp.)

The living conditions in the Army are just what most vigorous men need for their physical well-being. Every day brings an ample amount of exercise, fresh air, and good food. Yours will be a very unusual case if you do not find yourself after a few months stronger, healthier and more buoyant than you have ever been in your life.

It is true, on the other hand, that extreme exertion in marching or fighting may in time be called for. But this will not be until you are thoroughly trained and fit. The periods of strain or exposure will probably be short and are not likely in themselves to do you any real harm. At any rate, you owe it to yourself—and, what is more, you owe it to the country—to make yourself "fit" at the earliest possible moment. Sick men can not do much toward winning this war. In the Army they are not only a loss, but during their sickness a positive handicap.

There are a few simple, commonsense rules to follow, which are briefly summed up in this lesson.

Everything you eat will be carefully inspected by the officers in charge of that duty. You will have plenty of fresh meat, bread, potatoes, and other vegetables, and other simple and nourishing food. As a general rule, you should eat nothing not supplied in your company mess. Especially avoid green or overripe fruit and the inferior "soft drinks" which will be put before you in shops and by peddlers outside the camp limits.

Your chief care in connection with food will be to chew it thoroughly and eat it slowly. Don't drink excessive quantities of water, tea, or coffee with your meals: this is rather a common fault among soldiers.

Avoid needless exposure. You may be often called upon in the line of duty to march through mud and rain. So long as you are actively on the move it will probably do no harm. As soon as you are off duty, however, take proper care of yourself. Give yourself a rub down and if possible bathe your feet and change your clothing. Use a little extra care to protect your belly from getting chilled; it may save you some annoying attacks of cramps and diarrhoea. If you come in from exercise or drill sweating freely, try to cool off gradually instead of allowing yourself to get chilled. Even in hot weather throw a light coat or wrap over yourself for a few minutes.

One of the most important rules of all is to be careful about drinking water not provided in the camp or recommended to you by medical or company officers. If pure water is not at hand, it is better to drink boiled water or weak coffee or tea. Boiling kills the disease germs.

If you are in the habit of using tobacco, be moderate, especially while you are on the march or just before taking strenuous exercise. Your smoke will do less harm and at the same time will be much more enjoyable, if you wait till you can sit down quietly during one of the periods of rest.

Eight hours of each day are set aside for sleep. This is ample, but not too much for most men. Even if you can't sleep for any reason lie still and get a good rest during those hours.

The medical officer will be ready to do everything he can to keep you well. Don't hesitate to report to him if you need any attention even for slight ailments. Every day at "sick call" any soldier who is not feeling well may ask for medical treatment.

It is frequently assumed by well-meaning critics that illicit sexual intercourse and venereal diseases are more common in the Army than in civil life. This is probably a mistaken impression, due largely to the fact that statistics of these diseases are collected in the Army, whereas the corresponding figures for civilian life are incomplete. In the new Army the evils of sexual immorality will be reduced to a minimum. The men will find their time and energy so full occupied that they will have fewer temptations and dangers of this type than in everyday civil life.

One of your obligations as a citizen-soldier is to conduct yourself in such a way as to create and spread the true impression—namely, that the National Army is made up of men too much in earnest in the great task assigned to them to indulge in lewdness and vice.

The only sure safeguard against venereal disease is to avoid illicit intercourse. A clean life is the best guarantee of sound health. To maintain a clean life, keep away from those things which tend to promote sexual excitement and desire, particularly obscene conversation, reading matter, and pictures.

The moral reasons which should impel every self-respecting man to avoid debasing himself by sexual vice are well known to every man who joins the National Army and need not be recounted here. In addition to the moral reasons there rests upon every soldier the special duty of avoiding anything that may unfavorably reflect on the present service. This obligation in the present crisis is even greater and more urgent than in normal times. The soldiers of the National Army will be expected and required to maintain especially high standards of conduct and to honor the uniform they are privileged to wear.

SENATORS URGE HIGHER TAXES ON WAR PROFITS

Hollis, Johnson and Jones Made Speeches Monday on the Question.

Washington August 21—Wide spread sentiment in the senate in favor of adding to the total of the war tax bill by imposing higher rates on war profits and income sur-taxes received now impetus today with the opening of the third week of debate.

Speeches advocating such increases were made by Senators Johnson of California, Hollis of New Hampshire and Jones of New Mexico yesterday. Today Senator La Follette is expected to make his address in favor of levying virtually all war taxes upon income and war profits. Senator King is preparing a substitute bill providing much higher rates on these sources.

No action was taken by the senate during the day and little progress was made in the bill. After Senator La Follette's speech however, it is planned to proceed with actual consideration of the income and war profits sections. Leaders have telegraphed all absences to be present tomorrow although they do not expect final action on the two principal disputes before Wednesday nor passage of the bill by the end of the week.

The finance committee has disapproved involving closure, but Senator Simmons plans soon to have a bill fixed by agreement for a final vote.

In advocating greater federal taxes on war profits and millonaires' incomes, Senator Johnson said American youth had been conscripted and their swollen fortunes "collected from the blood of the nation," also should be taxed. He recommended that the government take 50 per cent of war profits and "Great Britain does" and half of millonaires' incomes. Senator Hollis supporting the La Follette-Gore-Thomas minority report of the finance committee for higher rates on incomes and profits also advocated taking 50 to 55 per cent of war profits, but expressed the opinion that the senate could not now be induced to levy over 50 per cent. The present bill is designed to assess about 25 per cent.

Senator La Follette introduced two amendments to the income tax section on behalf of the minority. One proposed increases in sur-taxes on incomes between $5000 and $17,500 and a maximum of 33 per cent on all over $17,500. An alternative amendment would have the principal sur-taxes apply to incomes of $5000 to $17,500 with a maximum of 33 per cent on those over the latter figure.

MANUFACTURERS RESPONSIBLE FOR PAPER PRICE RISE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, August 21—The advance in the price of book paper a year ago was entirely unnecessary, is the charge of the federal trade commission in their report to the senate finance committee today. The commission finds that the advance was not called for either by increase in the cost of manufacture or to change in conditions of supply and demand.

The increase in the price of the commission charges, was engineered by the manufacturers and the bureau of statistics maintained by the Paper Manufacturers' Association without consideration of the costs of manufacture. Federal action to complete a readjustment is believed to be recommended in the report to the senate committee.

DRAFT APPEALS BOARD AT WORK

Concord, August 21—The district exemption board met in the council chamber in the state house Monday and began its official work. Claims for exemption on industrial and agricultural grounds were first to be considered by the board. Each case received will be thoroughly canvassed and the decision given on the merits of the individual case.

To facilitate the work of the board it is urged that in the affidavits that are submitted that details of the work of the person applying for exemption be given in full and not merely stated as "farmer," or "railroad employee," as has been found in many cases.

WILSON TO RULE ON STATUS OF MARRIED MEN

Local Board at Odds Over Right to Exemption; Draft Law Upheld by Federal Judge in Georgia.

Washington, August 21—A further outline of the rights of married men to secure exemption under the selective service act is expected to be made by the President within a few days.

While no announcement has been made to this effect, officials look to the President to define more clearly the exact status of men having dependents.

It is stated that the present regulations are being interpreted very differently by local boards and only a clear outline of the circumstances under which exemption can be claimed will make the action of all local boards uniform in dependency cases.

The department of justice today gave out the decision of Federal Judge Emory Speer of the Southern district of Georgia upholding the constitutionality of the draft law in a test case brought by Albert Jones and John Story of Mt. Airy, Ga. The two men were arrested for failing to register. Judge Speer refused a writ of habeas corpus sought on the ground that the law violated the slavery amendment of the constitution.

Secretary Baker today ruled against class exemption to firemen and policemen. Firemen and policemen called to the draft may make individual claims on the grounds of their indispensability to the service in which they are employed, but the secretary expressed the opinion that the only indispensable men probably would be holding the men beyond the draft age.

REPORT ENTIRE TOWN OF LINCOLN WILL BE SOLD

Plymouth August 21—Practically the entire township of Lincoln situated within Grafton county is to pass into the control of the Packard and Young Manufacturing company of Lisbon, is a well authenticated rumor. Today this business town is owned by the J. B. Henry & Sons company. The transfer when made will constitute one of the largest ever recorded within the history of the county.

The consideration is said to be upwards of $3,000,000 and it is understood that the papers making this gigantic transfer of holdings will be passed on Wednesday of this week. The township is situated 22 miles north of Plymouth and at the terminal of the Pemigewasset Valley branch of the White Mountains division of the Boston and Maine system.

The Henry's own railway system of their own, the East branch and Lincoln railroad which is a ballasted road and penetrates their forests. This with its locomotives, cars and cranes is included in the bargain together with scores of substantial lumber camps throughout the territory. Large of 70,000 acres are included upon which it is estimated there is 300,000,000 of spruce and vast quantities of hardwood, hemlock and old growth pine.

Included in Lincoln Village property are 100 dwelling houses, a theatre, a modern hotel of 50 rooms, a general store, saw mills, sulphite fibre mills, ground wood pulp mills and paper mills. The mills of the Plympton Falls Pulp company at Plymouth, owned by the J. B. Henry and Sons company, it is understood will also be in the transfer of properties. The paper mills have a capacity of 75 tons of finished paper daily; the sulphite fibre mills have a daily capacity of 60 tons; and the ground wood pulp mills a capacity of 25 tons daily. The saw mills can turn out 20,000 feet of sawed lumber every 24 hours.

This business was developed by the late James E. Henry, the well known New Hampshire lumber king of this day and has been successfully conducted in more recent years by his sons, Col. John H. Henry, George E. Henry and Charles B. Henry.

If you see or hear of a man looking for him and rush him to the Herald Office.

Concord, August 20.—The committee on public safety held its weekly meeting today and passed a resolution urging that the President of the U. S. through the national food administrator, be asked to announce such minimum prices on potatoes, effective March 1, 1918, as on investigation shall be found just and equitable.

President Roy D. Huntley, chairman of the County Farm Bureau, assented to the resolution. He is a member of the public safety committee and was present at the meeting today and cleared up the situation which had arisen through a misleading report of the recent potato meeting, which appeared to criticize the state committee.

Prof. Richard W. Hubbard was authorized to record for the future the activities of the state committee, and also the sub-committees.

U. S. MARINES RESCUE TWELVE MISSIONARIES

Peking, Aug. 20.—Twelve American missionaries and a dozen other foreigners, mostly women and children who were besieged by Chinese bandits at Tabai, a town about 160 miles northwest of Peking, have been rescued by officers of the United States Marine Corps. Capt. Calvin B. Matthews and Lieut. Thomas M. Luby of the Marine Corps who are attached to the Peking Legation, left Kalgan early this month, accompanied by a detachment of Chinese soldiers, to bring out the besieged missionaries. Word was received here today that the American officers and the missionaries had arrived at Kalgan from Tabai. Kalgan is about half way between Peking and Tabai.

250,000 METAL WORKERS MAY GO ON STRIKE

New York, Aug. 20.—Labor leaders in charge of the strike in shipyards of the New York district today asserted that 250,000 metal workers in various parts of the country would be asked to declare a sympathetic strike. Leaders are to meet in Tammany Hall tomorrow and it is expected formal action will be taken seeking to extend the strike. According to those in charge of the strike the plans include taking out men all the way from Seattle, Wash., to the Delaware river, Boston, Seattle, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Elizabeth and Norfolk will be affected, they said. The meeting tomorrow will be attended by officials of the international unions involved, machinists, blacksmiths, boiler-makers and pattern makers. Louis Weyand, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Metalworkers, declared his union was in the fight either to win or lose everything, and that the men would keep up the struggle as long as the employers did. Strike leaders said the latest acquisition to their ranks was the mechanics employed by the Standard Ship Building Company on Shooter's Island, who struck, they said, upon being signalled from a motorboat containing strikers that appeared near the plant. The strikers and employers are deadlocked over the question of establishing a minimum wage.

200 LIEUTENANTS APPOINTED Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—The War Department today announced the appointment of 200 first and second lieutenants fresh from the artillery training school, Fort Monroe, who have been assigned to duty in France. The men come from all parts of the country.

MILLINERY WORKERS ON STRIKE

Boston, Aug. 20.—Union millinery workers quit work at 2:30 today in seven shops, about 450 strong, in their fight to secure recognition of the Millinery Workers' Union No. 49, shorter hours, with Saturday afternoons off, and increases in pay of from 10 to 25 per cent. Following the walkout, the striking employees met at the strike headquarters in Old Fellows building, at Washington and Kneeland streets, where the headquarters of the United Cloth Hat and Capmakers, with which they are affiliated, is located. The members of the union are mostly women. They receive, according to Julius Linden, local representative, from $4 to $7 a week for their work, and are compelled to work under present conditions from 50 to 65 hours a week. Mr. Linden declared that the strike will be financed by the International organization because of the attitude of the employers, who daily refuse to grant any concessions in pay, hours or working conditions. He also declared that the Boston manufacturers refused their employees the right to organize, while organizing themselves to fight the workers. He declared that the six leading capmakers, affected by the strike now are the Superior, the New Hat Frame, the Regal, the Eastern, Artistic and the Bay State. He expected that others would be added to this list today.

IDEA OF MILWAUKEE WOMAN Plan to Rejuvenate Old Dresses for Working Girls

Old party dresses that are taking wardrobe space, old-fashioned hats with faded ribbons, old lace and any other old article that is only going to waste, while women are busy with

Red Cross Work for boys beyond the sea, are to be assembled for working girls of Milwaukee.

The idea originated with Mrs. A. McNaughton, who asserts that there are hundreds of old gowns in wealthy women's wardrobes which should be turned over to the working girls and students. Mrs. McNaughton who is an experienced dressmaker, has offered the services of herself and her two daughters, the Misses Lillian and Alberta McNaughton, to help girls make their own clothes out of second hand suits and dresses.

"I am in sympathy with all the work that is being done for patriotic purposes, but I do not think we should forget the struggling young people at home," said Mrs. McNaughton. The problem of pretty clothes is important for hundreds of working girls. In the homes where formerly the father's salary was sufficient for nice clothes, their is no money this year to buy new dresses for the daughters. A package of dye and new patterns with work wonders with old garments.

I shall be glad to offer my home for a clearing house for this phase of patriotic work. We will teach girls how to cut clothes and give them lessons in making old things look like new."

Mrs. McNaughton will go to New York next week, and during her absence the work will be carried on by her daughters. When she returns she will assume charge of teaching girls. "This is no charity," she declared, "it is only a phase of conservation. The girls whom I expect to become interested in this sort of resourcefulness are the last people in the city who would wish to accept charity."

PERSHING IS SATISFIED WITH PROGRESS MADE

With the American Expeditionary Army in France, Aug. 20.—Gen. Pershing thinks his soldiers are "progressing satisfactorily" in their battle training. He said so today, following a surprise inspection visit of yesterday.

"I am entirely satisfied with what I have seen," the American commander asserted. "One thing that impressed me forcibly was the spirit of the officers and men." The first notice the American troops had of their commander's visit was an excited burst of bugle calls about dawn. The men tumbled hurriedly from their bunks and lined up at assembly. Then the word flew over the camp that Gen. Pershing and Gen. Petain had quietly slipped into the adjacent town during the night.

The United States troops stood at attention, while a dust cloud grew bigger and bigger on the snake-like road, heralding the visitors' approach in automobiles. Then came the formal reception at camp headquarters and the inspection. The two generals passed between long rows of the American troops. Gen. Petain being particularly interested in the sharpshooters and marksmanship medals worn by numerous American fighters. He stopped to examine them and to talk to the men thus decorated.

Petain and his staff wore the French horizon-blue uniforms, contrasting vividly with the dull colored O. D. of the troops they were inspecting. French villagers, clothed in their "Sunday best," watched the whole proceeding with awed interest, tagging along behind.

At one point in the inspection tour a little red-haired girl from the village came to the official party and handed Gen. Petain a bouquet. The French commander stopped and kissed the child on both cheeks. Gen. Pershing hesitated and then did likewise.

Malcom killed a foreigner, Anton Baumberg, who was self-styled "Count de Borch."

It is held by the physician that the woman had a large sum of money and was murdered and robbed by some men knowing of her wealth.

CLOSE CALL FOR CAPTAIN OF THE COAST GUARD

Newburyport, Mass., Aug. 20.—Captain Thomas J. Maddock of the Newburyport Coast Guard station who has had many a close call at sea had about the closest call of his career yesterday afternoon when a carelessly fired revolver bullet hit the back of a window near which he was seated while talking to some of the other members of the crew.
The crash aroused the life guards to immediate activity and they were soon searching about the beach looking for the person who fired the shot. He was located in the person of a small boy from Haverhill who is stopping at a cottage not far from the life saving station. The boy had fired in a rather reckless manner not stopping to think of the consequences. He was given a very plain talking to and as the shooting was unintentional no action will be taken. It is safe to say that he won't try it again in a hurry. Captain Maddock said the bullet struck in the back and came within the shortest possible distance of passing through the window and into the room filled with men.

PORTSMOUTH GAS CO., Always at Your Service

Press along the lines suggested by the Secretary of the Treasury and approved by the President.
In essentials it is proposed that the government furnish at cost to the soldiers and sailors of the United States life and indemnity insurance.
The main features of the Secretary's plan are that the government shall bear all cost of the administration of the insurance plan and that no expense of any kind shall be a charge on the funds created by the payment of premiums by the soldiers and sailors. Relieved of over-head charges, eight dollars a year for every thousand dollars insurance will be an adequate charge, under the plan; and this figure will put the maximum insurance of ten thousand dollars within the reach of practically every private soldier or sailor. Insurance in private companies would not cost many times this sum for men actually engaged in warfare.
After the war the insurance may be converted into other forms. The insurance is to be payable in installments, is non-assignable and free from the claims of creditors of the insured or of the beneficiary, and is limited to the wife, children, and other specified kindred.
If total disability results or disease is contracted in the course of service the compensation is to be based on percentages of total disability.
Medical, surgical and hospital treatment, supplies and appliances are to be given. Rehabilitation and re-education of the injured soldiers or sailors filling them for lives of activity and usefulness is part of the plan. The plan also contemplates free allowances to the families of soldiers and sailors the government supplies menting the sums set aside by the soldiers and sailors out of their wages.
The insurance is not to be a gift to the government but is to be paid for out of the pay of the insured men. The government, however, is to take upon itself the cost of collecting and administering the funds, and also the extra hazard caused by the war being a normal rate in peace time and an entirely inadequate rate for war risk.
The workmen's compensation laws and the experiences of other countries have been studied and used in the preparation of this bill.
Secretary McAdoo emphasizes the justice and rightfulness of such a function of the government by citing the fact that in this war we are not relying upon the volunteer system but are drafting American men and compelling them to undergo danger, and, if necessary, make the supreme sacrifice for their country. A higher obligation, he says, therefore rests upon the government not only towards the fighting men but towards those dependent upon them and a just, generous and humane government should see to it that so far as is practicable they should be given this protection not as a matter of mercy or charity but as a matter of right. And that they should enter into the service of their country with the certain knowledge that if death or misfortune comes to them they and their dependents are protected by insurance afforded them by their government as part of the compensation for the service they are rendering their country.
In conclusion Secretary McAdoo points out that while this plan may call for considerable expenditures at present, yet the eventual cost to the government of this plan will be very much less than that which would result from the adherence to the present pension program of the country, and, further, that the pension system will not provide the same benefits nor cover the subject in the same comprehensive, humane and equitable way.
There is no use to which the funds derived from the sale of Liberty Loan Bonds can not be put which will be more cordially approved by the people of the country than to provide this just and deserved protection to the men who are braving all the dangers of this war on land and sea in the service of their country.

UNIFORMS MADE IN SWEAT SHOPS
New York, Aug. 21.—In spite of the great demand for officers' uniforms at rapidly increasing prices, and the high level of prices for clothing generally, unemployment is widespread in this city among the garment trades and this is largely due to the war department's patronizing of sweat shops and tenement house labor, according to the monthly report of the New York City public employment bureau to the statement of officials of garment work mayors.
This official report supports the labor organizations that the tenement house and sweatshop evil, which was partially eliminated by the long series of labor troubles in the garment trades within the last three years, had been revived on a considerable scale because the war department had let contracts for uniforms, overcoats, and equipment for privates to contractors who sweat their employees. The report says:
"The striking feature of the local labor situation is the number of unemployed in the garment industries. The war sharply reduces the demand for civilian clothing and the government contracts for uniforms which should offset this loss, has not done so because the contractors have not been let in such a way as to stabilize the situation."
"But on the contrary, they are being obtained by mushroom contractors and executed to a certain extent by tenement house and other sweatshop labor, because these incompetent, ill-equipped contractors do not realize the false economy of unskilled and low-paid labor."
Protests that improved conditions in the garment industry won by workers in years of bitter struggle are being overturned by the failure of the war department to exact reasonable labor conditions on the part of contractors have been made to the war department by President Hillman of the International Garment Workers' Union and other representatives of labor organizations.
It was said today that contracts for more than a million uniforms and overcoats had been let within recent weeks without sufficient safeguards for labor and that this had practically given temporary control of the garment workers' industry to the army contractors, especially since the high prices of cloth and the withdrawal of hundreds of thousands of men from civilian life had cut down the usual demands for civilian clothes.
A committee representing the mayor's committee on national defense, which investigated this subject, found that tenement house and sweat shop labor was being employed on army contracts and recommended that the government should compel observance of fair labor conditions and declare contracts forfeited in cases where it was shown that contractors were sweating their workmen. The New York City public employment bureau found also that contractors building army cantonments had been embarrassed by the labor shortage. The report continued:
"The public employment bureau has been in constant touch with the quartermasters' office of the army and has made preliminary selection of men for service in the storeroom and on the transport ships."
"There is a steadily increasing demand for heavy labor which cannot be met by the present supply. There is also a shortage of skilled mechanics and agricultural workers. Contractors in charge of the construction of government cantonments are having difficulty in getting men to build these camps."

FRENCH AND ITALIANS DRIVING ENEMY WITH HARD INFANTRY BLOWS

(By Associated Press)
With the British busily engaged in consolidating their recently gained positions in Flanders and successfully resisting all German counter attacks to regain their lost ground the French and Italians are making wonderful gains against the enemy; the French against the Germans; the Italians against the Germans in the Verdun sector and the Italians against the Austrians from Plava to the headquarters of the Adriatic sea.
Sharp decisive fighting by the French is taking General Potain's men forward against the Germans on a front of eleven miles from the Avescourt wood eastward on the bank of the Meuse and to Bois de Chaum. The Italians after successful bombardings broke down the Austrian defenses, reversed them and the Isongo river and are forcing the enemy to retreat on a front of thirty-seven miles.
Twelve thousand prisoners have already been counted by the French and Italians and it is believed that the number will be greatly augmented when full details of the actions are reported. The Germans and Austrians also lost heavily in men killed and wounded and left a large number of cannon and machine guns in the hands of the attackers.
The battle front in France literally weltered in German blood as the Germans under the Crown Prince have continued his attempt begun so long ago to capture Verdun which has resulted only in failure so far as a military movement is concerned and has cost him tens of thousands of men. Among the most important positions occupied already by the French in their latest drive are the Avescourt wood, Lemoine Hume, Cornaux and Champeneyville where the desperate counter attacks of the Germans were withered by the French artillery.
French airmen aided materially the infantry in the drive flying low over the German lines and dropping bombs on the German guns and dropping bombs on the Germans behind their lines. They also engaged in fighting the German aircraft succeeding in sinking eleven of the planes in the air battles.
Likewise the Italian flyers supported their columns more than 200 Italian machines taking part in the advance and bombing the Austrian lines and positions with bombs and machine gun fire. A violent bombardment with big guns is taking place on the whole front and the Italians appear to be at last successful in their attempt to drive the enemy before them and capture Trieste, the Austrian important port on the Adriatic.
The situation in Flanders remains comparatively calm as compared with last week but the British and French forces continue their infantry salutes.
The continuous advance has been broken up by the Austro-German troops in Roumania according to the official report from Berlin which says they have forced the enemy to retire between Ormuz and Trohis.

ASK NEW BID FOR PAVING MIDDLE ST.

At the special meeting of the Board of Public Works it was found necessary to obtain from Warren Brothers, contractors for the paving job on Middle street, to submit a new figure to cover that part of the work which it was supposed the Boston and Maine would have to pay. This additional expense was made necessary by the action of the city council in their last special meeting by voting to excuse the railroad from that part of the contract the board had first demanded of them. No other business was discussed at the meeting.

CAPT. FRANK KNOX IS GIVEN WRIST WATCH

Captain Frank Knox, editor and publisher of the Union and Leader, Manchester, who won a commission at Madison Barracks, N. Y., and leaves soon to begin the training of a cavalry company in a national army cantonment, was given a parting memento by the Union-Leader staff yesterday, a wrist watch being presented him. Ever since the captain's return from the O. R. C. training camp, the demands upon his time have been so heavy that he has been but little in the office. Yesterday, however he dropped in, and the force in all the departments of the paper, making the most of their opportunity, quietly stopped work, invaded his private office, and surrounded their surprised chief. Without formality, a member of the editorial staff addressed him, speaking of the strong attachment between the employers and employees of the Union and Leader, and expressing the desire of the company to give the captain something that should represent this attachment and serve as a reminder in critical moments, perhaps, of all those at home. The news stories tell of the carefully timed attacks on the western front, and of the officers along miles of attacking lines regulating their movements by their wrist watches. It seemed to the workers that if at the moment when the watch said it was time to "go over the top" the captain could be using a timepiece given him by his newspaper associates it would be something like he and they were together in the supreme crisis.

Captain Knox responded with deep feeling. Seizing upon the theme of the presentation remarks he spoke of his appreciation of the fact that the men and women with whom he is associated were to be with him in their afflictions and hopes.

The incident closed with a cordial hand-shake around the whole office staff.

POLICE COURT

The fact that Joe Hosse refused to join the Hodecarriers' Union started a clinch on Maplewood avenue on Monday morning which led to a session of police court today in which Mike Perrelli was the defendant and Rossi the plaintiff. Rossi stated to the court that he was standing on the corner of the street where a crowd of workmen on their way to the shipbuilding plant came along. He claims that Mike said, "Come on, Joe, go to work at the shipyard and join the union; it will only cost you ten dollars."

Joe declared himself against the union and said the president of the union didn't interest him; that there was only one "president," and he was in Washington. The talk on unionism ended up in a scrap and Joe claimed that Mike hit him on the neck.

Mike denied planting his molars in that part of the anatomy connecting the head. His story was that the extended invitation to Joe to get into the union and the reply he got was a punch in the eye the effects of which he showed the court.

Judge Gupilli heard a few witnesses for Perrelli and decided that there was nothing to hold him, and discharged the case.

Thomas Walsh, an ironworker from Quincy and many other places, came here to land a job at the shipyard. He didn't get beyond the Northend before he was nicely lit up. The court let Thomas go with a suspended sentence of 60 days in the place of Epping.

A. J. Hemingway for indecent exposure, paid a fine of $10 and costs of $7.60.
